ability that if they read enough stuff sympathizing with them in miseries that do not exist—by and by these phantom faults become the more real. That is human nature—especially among children.

Only Children. After All

"And these new soldiers are children," says Captain Meiller of Company C. Three Hundred and Forty-first machine gun battalion. "Yesterday they were men of the world, with worries and affairs and business up there in Omaha. Today they are simply units—as it appears to them. They have absolutely no responsibility, unless they wish to assume it. They are told when to get up, when to eat, what to eat, when to bathe, where to sleep, when to sleep—when and where and what to do all of the time. Those who climb out of this soft snuggly are the coming officers. But most of the men are children—and it is some job being their father, too."

"For each of the 7,000 Nebraska boys at the Eighty-ninth division cantonment there is at least one anxious heart at home, and that is why I repeat and reiterate that all is well at Funston."

"While it is true that there are a few insignificant from the skinned milk of society who haven't had a single broiled lobster since they left Omaha and been forced to subsist on a lot of dirty old pot roast and baked potatoes and trash of that sort, the vast multitude of our real fighting lads are resting perfectly easy; are perfectly contented and are managing

STATEMENT of the ownership, management, circulation, etc., required by the Act of Congress of August 24, 1912, of The St. Joseph Observer, published weekly at St. Joseph, Mo., for October, 1917:

State of Missouri, County of Buchanan, ss.

Before me, a United States Commissioner, and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared Frank Freytag, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the sole owner of The St. Joseph Observer, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management (and if a daily paper, the circulation), etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, printed on the reverse of this form, to-wit:

1. That the names and addresses of the publisher, editor, managing editor, and business managers are:

Publisher—Frank Freytag, St. Joseph, Mo.

Editor—Frank Freytag, St. Joseph, Mo.

Managing Editor—Frank Freytag, St. Joseph, Mo.

Business Manager—Frank Freytag, St. Joseph, Mo.

2. That the owners are: (Give name and addresses of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of the total amount of stock)—Frank Freytag, sole owner, St. Joseph, Mo.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgages, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are: (If there are none, so state)—None.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and that affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

FRANK FREYTAG, Sole Owner.

Buying Up-to-Date Goods

By SETH BROWN

No woman likes to feel that she is buying old, shopworn, out-of-date goods.

She wants goods which are new and fresh, especially in articles of wear and ornamentation.

The store in which you trade largely determines what kind of goods you are buying.

If you trade in stores which do a small amount of business, you may rest assured that your merchant is always carrying goods which are two or three seasons out-of-date.

Such a merchant depends upon people coming to his store and searching through the stock to find out what they want.

The bright advertising merchant goes at it in another way.

He doesn't wait for people to dig through the stock to find his goods, but he uses space in the newspapers to tell all the people about his goods.

Advertising makes it easy for them to know about his wares, brings him immediate buyers and he sells his stock over and over again.

It doesn't get a chance to get stale—out-of-date.

Therefore, if you want to feel that the goods you are buying are right in style, quality and price, you should patronize the merchants who advertise.

THE JURY WANTED MORE "EVIDENCE"

Inasmuch as Sheriff Runner, acquired a goodly stock of liquor in various local option violation cases. It might not be amiss to recall that famous Kentucky trial, where a defendant was accused of adulterating whiskey, and some of the liquor was introduced in evidence and sampled by the jury, which shortly retired to consider its verdict. After an hour's absence the jury returned into open court.

"Has the jury agreed upon a verdict?" asked the judge.

"No, your honor," replied the foreman. "And before we do, we should like some more evidence."—Henry County Democrat.

MILK Was There With the Goods

Over 450 people were at Milt Boyles Sunday for watermelons and seemed like an old fashioned picnic. His melons are bigger and better than ever before. He has quite a few left yet, but if they keep going like they have the past ten days, another ten days will pretty well clean up his supply.—Holckow Herald.
